Federal government discontinues programme for inflation-linked bonds

The Federal government has decided to withdraw from the market for inflation-linked bonds: From 2024, no further inflation-linked Federal securities will be issued, nor will already outstanding securities be reopened.

The currently outstanding inflation-linked Federal securities will continue to be tradable on the market. The remaining programme comprises four securities with a current total volume of EUR 66.25 billion and remaining maturities between 2.5 to 22.5 years.
